Grand Erie Students to Continue with Remote Learning

Brantford Ont. – Grand Erie elementary and secondary students will continue with remote learning. The announcement was made via a statement by Minister of Education Stephen Lecce late this afternoon. No date was provided by the government as to when in-class instruction would resume for Grand Erie students.

The announcement impacts Grand Erie elementary and secondary students and staff who were scheduled to return to in-class instruction next week (January 25). These students and staff will now remain in remote learning until further direction is provided by the province.

During remote learning, Grand Erie educators provide synchronous and asynchronous learning for students throughout the school day.

Grand Erie families who previously selected online learning through the Board's Virtual Learning Academy are not impacted by today's announcement.
