McKinnon Park Secondary School is pleased to welcome their new custodian, Mr. McConachie, to the school. He has worked for Grand Erie District School Board for 11 years and he hopes to continue for another 10 years to come.

Mr. McConachie loves everything about his job. He likes the variety of tasks that he encounters daily. He is really dedicated to his job, and sometimes he will come in really early or stay very late if something needs to be done. Something that he thinks helps him do his job properly is that he really likes his job. However, this also causes him to spend a little too much time working.

MPSS would like to welcome Mr. McConachie to the school. He is the new custodian this year and he looks forward to helping make MPSS a great school for staff and students.

There are some things that can cause his job to be a little more difficult such as certain bad weather like rain, snow. He especially despises salt because the students track it into the school and it leaves a mess everywhere that needs to be cleaned up. Mr. McConachie tries very hard to keep this school comfortable with air-conditioning as well as by maintaining its cleanliness. He does admit that students throwing away their garbage in the proper containers does in fact help make his job easier. He is always available talk to anyone and his door is open to everyone.
